

MESSAGE SENT ON MEAT TRUST

Roosevelt Makes No Bones About Calling A Spade A Spade In His Message.

REPORT OF INVESTIGATION MADE

Conditions Described In The Chicago Packing Houses Are Most Frightful To Even Know Exist.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., June 4.—President Roosevelt this noon sent the following message, to congress relative to the recent inquiry as to conditions in the packing-houses:

"The senate and house of representatives:

"I transmit herewith the report of James Bronson Reynolds and Commissioner Charles P. Neill, the special committee whom I appointed to investigate into the conditions in the stockyards of Chicago and report thereon to me. This report is of a preliminary nature. I submit it to you now because it shows the urgent need of immediate action by the congress in the direction of providing a drastic and thorough going inspection by the federal government of all stockyards and packing-houses and of their products so far as the latter enter into interstate or foreign commerce. The conditions shown by even this short inspection to exist in the Chicago stockyards are revolting. It is imperatively necessary in the interest and decency that they should be radically changed. Under the existing law it is wholly impossible to secure satisfactory results.

"When my attention was first directed to this matter an investigation was made under the bureau of animal industry of the department of agriculture. When the preliminary statements of this investigation were brought to my attention they showed such defects in the law and such wholly unexpected conditions that I deemed it best to have a further immediate investigation by men not connected with the bureau, and accordingly appointed Messrs. Reynolds and Neill. It was impossible under the existing law that satisfactory work could be done by the bureau of animal industry. I am now, however, examining the way in which the work actually was done.

"Before I had received the report of Messrs. Reynolds and Neill, I had directed that labels placed upon any package of meat food products should state only that the carcass of the animal from which the meat was taken had been inspected at the time of the slaughter. If inspection of meat food products at all stages of preparation is not secured by the passage of legislation recommended I shall feel compelled to order that inspection labels and certificates on canned products shall not be used hereafter.

"The report shows that the stockyards and packing-houses are not kept even reasonably clean, and that the method of handling and preparing food products is uncleanly and dangerous to health. Under existing law the national government has no power to enforce inspection of the many forms of prepared meat food products that are daily going from the packing-houses into interstate commerce. Owing to an inadequate appropriation the department of agriculture is not even able to place inspectors in all establishments desiring them. The present law prohibits the shipment of uninspected meat to foreign countries, but there is no provision forbidding the shipment of uninspected meats in interstate commerce, and thus the avenues of traffic in diseased or spoiled meats, if as has been alleged on seemingly good authority, further evils exist, such as the improper use of chemicals and dyes, the government lacks power to remedy them. A law is needed, which will enable the inspectors of the general government to inspect and supervise from the hoof to the can the preparation of the meat food product. The evil seems to be much less in the sale of dressed carcasses than in the sale of canned and other prepared products, and very much less as regards products sent abroad than as regards those used at home.

"In my judgment the expense of the inspection should be paid by a fee levied on each animal slaughtered. If this is not done, the whole purpose of the law can at any time be defeated through an insufficient appropriation; and whenever there was no particular public interest in the subject it would be not only easy but natural thus to make the appropriation insufficient. If it were not for this consideration I should favor the government paying for inspection.

"The alarm expressed in certain quarters concerning this feature should be allayed by a realization of the fact that in no case, under such a law, will the cost of inspection exceed 8 cents per head.

"I call special attention to the fact that this report is preliminary, and that the investigation is still unfinished. It is not yet possible to report on the alleged abuses in the use of deleterious chemical compounds in connection with canning and preserving meat products, nor on the alleged doctoring in this fashion of tainted meat and of products returned to the packers as having grown unsalable or unusable from age or from other reasons. Grave allegations are made in reference to abuses of this nature.

"Let me repeat that under the present law there practically is no method of stopping these abuses. If they should be discovered to exist, legislation is needed in order to prevent the possibility of all abuses in the future. If no legislation is passed, then the excellent results accomplished by the work of this special committee will endure only so long as the memory of the committee's work is fresh and recollection of the abuses is absolutely certain.

"I urge the immediate enactment into law of provisions which will enable the department of agriculture adequately to inspect the meat and meat food products entering into interstate commerce and to supervise the methods of preparing the same, and to prescribe the sanitary conditions under which the work shall be performed. I, therefore, commend to your favorable consideration and urge the enactment of substantially the provisions known as senate amendment No. 29 to the act making appropriations for the department of agriculture for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907, as passed by the senate, this amendment being commonly known as the Beveridge amendment.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

"The White House, June 4, 1906.

The report says that two and one half weeks were spent in the investigation in Chicago, during which "we went through the principal packing-houses in the stockyards district, together with a few of the smaller ones in New York city in the investigation of its leading slaughter-houses." The report says that "in many of the rooms where water is used freely the floors are soaked and slimy and the dark and dingy rooms are naturally not kept suitably clean. An absence of cleanliness was found everywhere in the handling of meat being prepared for the various meat food products. The parts that are sent from the cooling room to these departments where various forms of meat products are prepared are handled with no regard whatever for cleanliness. The workers climb over heaps of meat, select the pieces they wish and frequently throw them down upon the dirty floor beside their bench.

"In a word," the report adds, "we saw meat shoveled from filthy wooden floors, piled on tables rarely washed, pushed from room to room in rotten box carts, in all of which processes it was in the way of gathering dirt, splinters, floor filth, it was always the reply that this meat would afterwards be cooked, and that this sterilization would prevent any danger from its use. A very considerable portion of the meat so handled is sent out as smoked products and in the form of sausages, which are prepared to be eaten without being cooked.

"A particularly glaring instance of uncleanness was found in a room where the best grade of sausage was being prepared for export."

The report says that the radical defect in the inspection system is that it is confined at present, by law to passing on the healthfulness of animals at the time of killing, but that the various forms of canned products and other prepared meat foods goes through the use of chemicals. During these processes there is no government inspection although these products when sent out bear a label stating they have been passed upon by government inspectors. The report arraigns the sanitary provisions in the buildings as abominable and says the men and women plunge their unwashed hands into the meat to be converted into food products. The report says the burden of protecting the cleanliness and wholesomeness of the products and the health of the workers and improving the conditions must fall upon the national government.

Department superintendents "seem to ignore all considerations except the account book," and proper care of the products and of health and comfort of the employees is impossible and the consumer consequently suffers. Tuberculosis victims expectorate on the spongy wooden floors of the dark work rooms from which falling scraps of meat are later shoveled up to be later converted into food products. "Even the ordinary food products of life are completely ignored," says the report in discussing the arrangements for men and women employees. The report says:

"The whole situation as we saw it in these huge establishments tends necessarily and inevitably to the moral degradation of thousands of workers who are forced to spend their working hours under conditions that

GEOLOGICAL MAP OF THE SALTON SINK

Surface of Earth Is Lowering and Colorado River Will Create an Immense Inland Sea.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., June 4.—A map representing parts of California and Mexico has recently been published by the United States Geological Survey which is of unusual interest at this time. The area covered is widely known as the Salton Sink, a great depression in the Colorado Desert which has been much discussed lately, owing to the threatened formation of a large inland sea where there is now a thriving community. About 8000 people have settled in that part of the basin known as the Imperial Valley and are raising excellent crops of barley and alfalfa. Stock farms are numerous and experiments in raising the date palm are in progress. The freight shipments from Imperial, a town only four years old, are said to rival those of leading cities of southern California. The existence of this peaceful community, however, is seriously threatened by the Colorado River, which stream is also the source of all its prosperity, as it furnishes the water for the irrigation system. The absence of any controlling works at the head of the main canal has resulted in diverting the river from its old channel and permitting the entire flood flow to enter the irrigation system. This is causing great damage to the ditches and crops, and is forming a large lake, which now covers about 250 square miles at the lowest part of the Sink. The Southern Pacific railroad has been obliged to rebuild many miles of track.

KAISER WILLIAM IS TO VISIT VIENNA

Much Significance Is Attached Though Ruler Will Remain in Austria But Short Time.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Vienna, June 4.—This city is superbly decorated in honor of the arrival here of Emperor William tomorrow. Though the visit will be short, the meeting of the two rulers will be the occasion for a noteworthy demonstration and a series of brilliant spectacles. Considerable political significance is attached to the visit. The newspapers generally ascribe its purpose to be to strengthen the relations between Germany and Austria in view of the recent discussions regarding the isolation of Germany.

VOTERS IN OREGON NOMINATE SENATORS

Full State Ticket Being Fought and Preference for Senate Representatives Shown.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Portland, Ore., June 4.—Today's election in Oregon is regarded as one of the most important in the history of the state. In addition to electing a full state ticket, the voters are called upon to elect representatives in the several congressional districts and to express their preference for United States senator, one of the latter to be elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Mitchell and the other for the long term to succeed Senator John M. Gearin. Governor George E. Chamberlain has been named for re-election by the democrats, while the governor's democratic appointee, John M. Gearin, is a candidate to succeed himself in the United States Senate for the full term. The republican ticket is headed by James Withycombe as the gubernatorial candidate, F. W. Mulkey is the republican candidate for senator for the short term and Jonathan Bourne, Jr., is the candidate for the long term senatorship. In addition, eleven measures are submitted to the people for their action. Five are constitutional amendments and five are initiative laws, while the eleventh relate to an appropriation bill passed by the last legislature. The most important measures from a popular viewpoint are those proposing woman suffrage, home rule for special initiative and referendum for special laws, an anti-pass law, and a gross earnings tax on private car lines and on express, telephone and telegraph companies. The campaign has been a spirited one and both sides appear confident of success. The republican, however, seem certain of winning in the congressional elections and also in the legislative contests. The governorship is likely to prove a close contest. Governor Chamberlain, squeezed in two years ago by a plurality of 246, although all the rest of the republican state ticket was elected and Roosevelt had a plurality of nearly 43,000. The democrats likewise elected the governor in 1902 by a plurality of 276. But normally Oregon is regarded as a republican state and has been since 1872. Both the republican congressmen were elected two years ago by large majorities. The prohibitionists have a ticket in the field headed by I. H. Amos for governor, and R. Lee Paget and Rev. H. Gould as candidates for United States Senators.

RENEWED TROUBLE AT THE CANANEAMINES

Striking Mexicans Fire On The Rurales And In Turn Are Fired Upon By Them.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

El Paso, Tex., June 4.—Renewed trouble broke out at Cananea last night between the striking Mexicans of Greene's mines and the Rurales. Five miners were killed and thirteen injured. One of the Rurales was slightly injured.

Shot Leaders.—Douglas, Ariz., June 4.—It is reported here the leaders of the Cananea riots were executed yesterday morning by Col. Kosterlitzky. The rioters were lined up in front of a stone wall and killed by a volley from the rifles of the rurales.

Asked Instructions.—Washington, D. C., June 4.—American Ambassador Thompson to Mexico telegraphed the state department, in answer to instructions relative to the Cananea disturbances, that the outbreak there was revolutionary in character and fomented from headquarters at St. Louis, Mo.

Denies Report.—Douglas, Ariz., June 4.—A telephone message direct from the office of Col. Greene in Cananea denies the reports that the ring-leaders in the riots were executed by Col. Kosterlitzky. There were no disorders yesterday or today.

Honor Jefferson Davis.—Atlanta, Ga., June 4.—Interesting exercises in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Jefferson Davis were held at the state capitol today under the auspices of the local camps of United Confederate Veterans. ARE TO RECOMMEND CONSULAR REFORMS

Board of Five Officers Appointed by Secretary Root Convene For Discussions.

Washington, D. C., June 4.—An important step in the movement for the reform of the Consular Service of America was taken today when a board of five officers created by order of Secretary Root convened here to prepare plans for the desired reorganization. The members of the board were chosen from among the most experienced consuls in the service. They are Robert S. Chilton, Jr., consul at Toronto; George H. Murphy, consul agent at St. Catherine; Frank H. Mason, consul general at Paris; Charles M. Dickinson, consul general at Constantinople, and Edward H. Ozman, consul at Stuttgart. The board is charged with the consideration of six topics, as follows: Regulations for the new inspection service, the relations between consulates and the embassies or legations in the countries where they are located, the rules which should govern promotion and appointment, the scope and character of examinations for new appointments, the tariff of fees for consular services, and amendments of existing regulations rendered necessary or expedient by the new statute. In formulating their plans the members of the board will have the assistance of Wilbur J. Carr, chief of the consular bureau. The work is expected to be completed by July 1, when the new regulations will become effective.

FROM PAGE TO SENATOR; DICTATOR IN POLITICS; SENATOR GORMAN DIES

Manipulator Of Democracy's Policies, Maryland's Senator Passes Away In Washington.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., June 4.—Senator Arthur P. Gorman, Maryland, died today. The senator passed away about 9:30 o'clock. The end came suddenly, as the senator had been improving lately. Heart trouble was the cause. Arthur P. Gorman was without question one of the cleverest and most successful of American politicians. When he was only 21 he had his first view of the senate chamber as a page of that house, and from that day to the present he was never out of the public eye or without a large and influential following in the politics of his native state. Mr. Gorman was born in Howard county, Maryland, March 11, 1839. He came of Irish Presbyterian stock. When a boy he enjoyed only such educational advantages as the public schools of his locality could supply. In 1852 he was appointed a page in the senate. The youth attracted the attention of Stephen A. Douglas of Illinois, who eventually made him his secretary and confidential friend. At the outbreak of the war he supported the forcible suppression of the rebellion. He remained in the service of the senate, advancing step by step, until he occupied the position of postmaster. After his dismissal from the senate for following the lead of President Johnson, he was appointed a collector of internal revenue, which office he held until the incoming of the Grant administration. Mr. Gorman was first elected to the senate in 1880, and was re-elected in 1886 and 1892. Previous to his first election he had held numerous political offices in Maryland, among them that of state senator, in which capacity he served several terms. In 1902 Mr. Gorman was again elected to the senate to succeed George L. Wellington, republican. His term would have expired March 3, 1909. Gorman in 1884 was a Cleveland man and managed Cleveland's campaign. But soon after President Cleveland took office there was a falling out between the two and ever after that Mr. Gorman was Cleveland's political foe. At the memorable St. Louis convention it was Gorman who steered the platform clear of silver. In 1892 and at each of the subsequent democratic national conventions Gorman figured as a possible presidential candidate, but each time he missed his goal, and sometimes, as it seemed, by a very narrow margin. Senator Gorman was ever a better politician than statesman. He was not an orator in any sense of the word, but few had a keener knowledge of the cogs of political machinery than he, and none was better able to manage a campaign. By his political opponents he was denominated a spoilsman of spoilsmen, as Senator Hanna was. Mr. Gorman was married in 1866 to Mrs. Hattie D. Schwartz. Outside of politics he devoted himself to his family, his wife, three daughters and a son, who resembles his father and has followed his path in politics into the Maryland legislature. In 1872 Mr. Gorman became president of the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal company, which connection laid the foundation of his wealth.

Spinsters of Belgian Village Were Hostesses of Bachelors From Surrounding Country.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Brussels, June 4.—Ninety-seven marriageable spinsters in the village of Ecaussines held a unique celebration of Whit Monday today with an eye to securing life partners. Upon invitations the eligible bachelors for miles around visited the town and were received by a committee composed of the prettiest marriageable spinsters. An elaborate program of entertainment was carried out, including a promenade, a concert, dinner and ball, in the course of which the bachelors were given fair opportunity to inspect the charms of the spinsters. At the concert the band played nothing but nuptial marches and love songs. It is expected that ere many days elapse there will be announcement of several score of engagements as a result of the party.

THREE SHOWS IN ONE.

The Offering of the New Carl Hagenbeck Enterprise.

Three Ring Circus, East India Pera-hera and World-Famed Trained

Wild Beasts.

On Friday, June 15, when the Carl

Hagenbeck Greater Shows exhibit here, the public will undoubtedly be treated to a tremendous surprise, for report has it that a "new and mighty modern monarch" has entered the arenic world. Carl Hagenbeck and his managerial associates have not only ventured into a field of greater endeavor, but in so doing, it is said, have outdistanced tented rivals in a manner that leaves nothing to the imagination. In previous seasons the Carl Hagenbeck show, consisted of the world's greatest exhibition of trained wild beasts. The added words of "greater shows" to the title are full of significance. The Carl Hagenbeck

Greater Shows that are to be seen here soon are all that the name implies—greater in everything that makes for the largest and most comprehensive amusement institution ever organized along such strikingly original lines that no single word serves for their proper classification. First and foremost, there is, circus—a three-ring circus equal in size to any other enterprise of similar character, with the additional telling advantage of being new and modern in the matter of equipment and presentation. For the circus performances proper there have been gathered together three hundred of the world's greatest arenic artists with wide range of accomplishments.

Every person or thing desired was secured, for no act was considered too big and no salary too high. The best artists and the biggest features in every line of arenic effort were the chosen ones, including two score of mid-air performers; international equestrian champions of every school of riding; companies of acrobats and gymnasts; troupes of wire performers, leapers and tumbler; forty furiously funny human and animal clowns; French premieres and corpsees; jockeys, Roman riders and characterists; numerous novel feature performances never seen before; inspiring and brilliant tournaments and countless incidental diversions, all combining to make an arenic feast of surpassing excellence.

PHILIPPINE BILL
STILL TALKED OFALDRICH ANNOUNCES IT IS DOOM.
THIS SESSION.

ROOSEVELT TOLD ITS FATE

Talk on President and the Next Republican Nominee—Roosevelt

[Special to the Gazette.]

Washington, D. C., June 3.—Recently your correspondent predicted that the Philippine tariff bill was dead for this session. Within a week Senator

Aldrich made his first call on the President since the two clashed over the question of railroad rates. The subject under discussion was the prospect of legislation and among other things

Mr. Aldrich told the President that there was no prospect of the passage of the Philippine tariff bill at this session of congress. The President regretted that such was the case but he took it for granted. Senator Aldrich knew what he was talking about and let it go at that.

Brown's Successor.

The authoritative statement by Secretary Taft that the question of the successor to Justice Brown of the U. S.

Supreme Court will be left open until congress meets in December next puts at rest the rumors that Secretary

Taft would be appointed and condoned during the present session. He will therefore be left free to work between now and December 1st for the passage of the Philippine tariff bill. There is reason to believe that President Roosevelt looks upon Secretary Taft as his logical successor. He would prefer Root, that is beyond question, but he realizes that Mr. Root is not popular with the masses of the people although admittedly a man of sterling character and force, and of a really great intellect. Secretary Taft is also a man of brains and spotless character, and is much more popular than

Mr. Root—who is generally looked upon as being very cold, while Secretary Taft is quite the reverse.

If He Accepts.

If Secretary Taft should go on the bench it would practically eliminate him from consideration for the presidential nomination and he could not only not do any electioneering for himself but would be compelled to avoid anything of the kind to prevent the slightest suspicion attaching to any of his judicial acts. As six months will intervene before the next meeting of congress there will be ample time for events to further shape themselves so that it may appear whether it is better for Secretary Taft to go on the bench or to remain in the President's cabinet with a chance of inheriting his mantle. By that time, too, the humming of the presidential bells may be more pronounced in the immediate vicinity of Mr. Roosevelt's bonnet.

May Be Ambitious.

There is little question that sometime ago Mr. Roosevelt was ambitious only to name his successor, in the belief that if a person he should choose should be elected president what he is pleased to term his "policies" would be carried out. Then, before eight years, for Mr. Roosevelt is still a young man, he might be persuaded to again assume the reins of government.

But while, on the night of the election in November, 1904, four years in the White House may have seemed to be a long time, they are rapidly growing shorter and the 4th of March, 1909, is much nearer today than it was then. Next summer Mr. Roosevelt will take another swing around the circle and he will cover a great deal of ground. The following summer the nominating conventions will be held. Mr. Roosevelt, if he retire at the end of his present term, will have actually served less than eight years and will have many "policies" such as trust-busting, railroad rate regulation, canal building and tariff revis-

Look For Insight.

If there is anything in his character which would lead one to believe that he would relinquish his position under the circumstances if there was any chance to continue in his office

it has yet to be discovered. The frequency and startling rapidity with which he can change his mind was amply evidenced in the railroad rate legislation. It is therefore more than probable he will change his mind about the presidency and welcome an opportunity to again be a candidate.

He is fortunate in one respect that as his creed is such a mixture of republicanism and democracy—in fact he might be called an Independent—that he could very well run on either ticket. If congress does not revise the tariff within the next year or two he would have a fine issue on which to go before the people.

...FORTY YEARS AGO...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Monday, June 4, 1906.—The Sons of Ham, a colored organization of Memphis, being desirous of parading on the 6th of June, the anniversary of the re-occupation of that city by national troops, and being warned by rebel papers not to do so, asked Mayor Park's permission. That dignified official returned their application, with the following indorsement: "The Sons of Ham and all other sons can do just as they please, provided they do not break civil law."

No More Wheat for Europe.—The State Department has received from the American Consul at Liverpool a dispatch stating that the steamer City of Dublin would sail on the ensuing evening, with 15,000 bushels of wheat, which had been imported from New York, and was being returned for sale in that city.

The Net Proceeds.—We understand that the net proceeds of the festival given on Friday evening last by the ladies of All Souls' Church at the Myers House, are a little over one hundred dollars. A snug little sum for any society to realize upon such an occasion.

The government is in possession of evidence going to show that a number of freedmen have been kidnapped from Georgia and smuggled off to Turkey, to do forced work in the salt mines, or transferred to agents engaged in the Cuban slave trade.

Theatre at Lappin's Hall.—The Milwaukee Dramatic Company, which is full and efficient, with a first class star, Miss Alice Kingsbury, will commence a short season of six nights at Lappin's Hall this evening. The Stock company and the Star have been very greatly applauded and the critics of Milwaukee and Madison have spoken of this troupe as deserving of large patronage. Last week the Milwaukee company were deservedly supported and appreciated in Madison. We hope the same encouragement may be met with here, for Alice Kingsbury is one of the most accomplished comedienne of this age. And Mr. Mills deserves to succeed for his endeavor to establish the highest class of dramatic art in this State, Milwaukee being his headquarters.

LEADERS OF RIOT SHOT BY RURALES

EIGHT MEN ARE EXECUTED FOR CANANEA AFFAIR.

SHOUT DEFIANCE TO MEXICO

Death of the Ringleaders Is Expected to Have Good Effect, Although Rioting Has Been Renewed.

Naco, Ariz., June 4.—Eight leaders of the anarchists who incited the riot and strike against the Green Consolidated Copper Mining company at Cananea were executed by rurales under command of Col. Kosterlitzky near Renquillo Sunday. The anarchists were lined up in front of a stone wall.

"Viva la Mexico! So perish all traitors!" shouted Kosterlitzky. "To hell with government! Away with Mexico!" was the reply. A volley came from the rurales and the leaders of the riot of Friday dropped dead.

The execution followed closely upon a dramatic scene in Renquillo Sunday morning. Col. Greene had returned to the company offices from the mines. With him was Gov. Ysabel and his staff and bodyguard. They occupied two automobiles. In the public square at Renquillo was an angry mob. The day before the bearer of a red flag had fallen with 16 bullet holes in his body. Bearing down upon this mob, Col. Greene waved his right hand aloft and in a loud voice cried: "Viva la Cananea! Viva Mexico!"

Instantly "Viva la Cananea! Viva la Greene!" came from a thousand lips, but the men on sighting the governor snarled a vicious "Away with Mexico." To hell with the government.

Gov. Ysabel sprang to his feet. "No, no, my friends," he cried. "The government is good and Col. Greene is your friend."

Two young men pressed forward, the butts of their revolvers visible. "No, no," they cried. They were fierce in their interruption.

Frank Mason, Col. Greene's nephew, raised his rifle. Eight young Mexicans were seized and the execution followed.

Although renewed rioting broke out in Cananea Saturday night there is no doubt but that the execution of the ringleaders will have a marked effect. The latest trouble in Cananea was between Mexicans of Col. Greene's mines and smelter and the rurales under Kosterlitzky. Five Mexican strikers were killed and 13 injured. A rural also was shot, but not seriously. The clash came shortly before the arrival of 200 Mexican troops from Hermosillo. Col. Kosterlitzky had declared the town under martial law and proceeded to disperse the bands of Mexicans at either end of the town. The Mexicans resisted and were fired upon by the soldiers.

Fire on Americans. When taking to the mountains the Mexicans fired on the American residences of the town through the night, and many windows were broken, but little other damage was done. The Americans were in no manner connected with the second outbreak. All of the American women of the town and many of the women of the higher class of Mexicans are quartered with their children in Col. Greene's home for protection.

The first Mexican soldiers to reach the scene, with the exception of Kosterlitzky's men, arrived about daylight Sunday morning. They numbered 200 and came from Hermosillo upon the order of Gov. Ysabel. Joining the forces of Col. Kosterlitzky the troops were given orders to shoot to kill all persons who gave the slightest resistance to orders. The situation is grave and more trouble is expected.

Government Is Slow. As the result of the extremely slow methods of the Mexican government in trying to protect foreigners in the republic, Americans in Sonora are incensed and there is open talk of concerted action among the Americans looking toward a forced change in present conditions. The company of troops now in Juarez is held in instant readiness for movement in case the

HEAVY DAMAGE FROM FIRE

SIXTEEN MEN HAVE NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

Small Blaze Develops Into Large Loss When the Automatic Sprinklers Get Into Action.

Omaha, Neb., June 3.—A very insignificant fire was the indirect cause of heavy damage to the stock of the Halden Brothers department store at Sixteenth and Dodge streets and the narrow escape from death of 15 firemen and a police surgeon Sunday afternoon. The fire, which was of unknown origin, started in a furniture store room at the rear of the building.

It had done no more than $100,000 damage when it started the automatic sprinkler which flooded the entire five floors of the building before it was discovered.

The total value of the stock is given at $650,000 and the damage at one-half that amount, fully covered by insurance.

The fire had evidently been smoldering for some time before the water was started, for the room was so filled with carbolic acid gas, that the first firemen to enter the place were overcome and those who went to their assistance rapidly succumbed until it was necessary to take 15 of them, including Chief Sailer, Assistant Chief Simpson, Captains Sullivan, Coyle and Oleson, and Lieutenants Erickson, Beauman and Peterson to the hospital.

Police Surgeon Elmors was also overcome while attending them at the scene of the fire. Nearly all reported for duty in the evening and none is in a serious condition.

TRADE WITH CHINA GROWS

American Exports to That Country Increase at Rapid Rate for Ten-Year Period.

Washington, June 3.—The trade of the United States with China, says a bulletin issued by the department of commerce and labor, shows a very rapid growth during the past decade, especially in exports to that country, though the imports from China also show an increase. Total exports to China in the calendar year 1895 were $3,703,922 and in 1905 $58,574,795; the total imports from China were, in 1895, $21,842,800 and in 1905, $23,122,811. In addition to the exports direct, the bulletin says, there should be considered those to Hong Kong, a British colony on the coast of China, which is in fact a door through which large quantities of merchandise enter that country. To Hong Kong the exports of the United States grew from $4,462,856 in 1895, to $8,080,826 in 1905.

WU TING FANG MAY RETIRE

Noted Chinese Statesman Likely to Quit Official Life and Reside in Shanghai.

Peking, June 3.—Wu Ting Fang, former Chinese minister to Washington, has left Peking on a leave of absence. It is said that he will probably live in Shanghai, being disgusted with Chinese official life.

After he returned from America, Wu Ting Fang gained considerable influence over the emperor, dowager, but the court officials threw obstacles in the path of his reform scheme and their intrigues finally relegated him to minor offices without power. He has been outspoken in his denunciations of the rottenness of Chinese officialdom. A few years ago he would have lost his head for his plain speaking.

Mexican government should decide to send them to Cananea.

One disturbing feature of the situation is the alleged discovery, that under the guise of socialism, the Mexicans seem to have a strong organization of anarchists in Sonora and perhaps throughout the republic. Of great importance is the precedent set by Gov. Ysabel in permitting 300 armed Americans to cross the international line in a body.

The situation may be accounted saved so long as Kosterlitzky and his men remain, but the treachery of the people does not extend this grace an hour beyond an overpowering guard. Three red flags were hoisted in Friday's battle.

Honolulu, June 3.—By swimming 30 miles Edward Dovauchelle, a half white, saved his life after the boat occupied by himself and three native companions had capsized off Maui island.

SEEKS BALLOT BOX PURITY

PARTY OF PANAMA ARRIVES AT NEW YORK CITY.

Come to Urge Intervention by United States Government in Elections to Be Held on Isthmus.

New York, June 3.—Drs. Arosemena, A. E. Morales and B. Parres and Gen. D. Diez, of the liberal party in Panama, arrived here Sunday on the steamer, Alliance from Colon. They come here to urge the mediation of the United States government in the approaching elections. Dr. Arosemena, who leads the party, said:

"We ask for the purity of the ballot box. We represent the greater part of the people, but the party in power is making every effort to remain control by all the machinery of the government. They have posted the list of eligible voters, leaving out all the names of the opposition, thus disenfranchising a large proportion of the people. We, the liberal and conservative element, desire to make Panama a real republic and not one such as the world regards those of South and Central America."

"Of course you know that rebellion is not regarded in the sense as you of the United States view rebellion. We are rebels to-day, to-morrow the other party will be thought such. We wish to avoid this condition, which has been so much deplored in other republics. We want a fair and square election, and if beaten will agree with the result. The government in Panama as now existing has evaded all fair opposition so far, and unless compelled to give open elections will perpetuate their power. They fear our greater number and know we will win."

OLD SORES OFTEN LEAD TO CANCER

Whenever a sore or ulcer does not heal and shows signs of becoming chronic, it should arouse suspicion, because many of these places lead to cancer. It may appear as an ordinary sore at first, and is given treatment as such, with some simple salve, wash or plaster, with the hope that the place will heal, but the real seat of the trouble is in the blood and cannot be reached by external remedies, and soon the sore will return. After awhile the deadly poison begins to eat into the surrounding flesh and the ulcer spreads rapidly, becoming more offensive and alarming until at last the sufferer finds he is afflicted with cancer. Cancerous ulcers often start from a boil, wart, mole or pimple, which has been bruised or roughly handled, showing that the taint is in the blood, perhaps inherited. Sores is the remains of some constitutional disease or the effects of a long spell of sickness. S. S. S. goes down to the very root of the trouble and cures so thoroughly that there is never any sign of the trouble in after years. As soon as the system gets under the influence of S. S. S. the place begins to improve, the discharge gradually grows less, the inflammation leaves, the flesh resumes its healthy color, and soon the sore is well, because every vestige of the cause has been removed from the blood. Book on sores and ulcers and medical advice without charge. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

I was suffering greatly from a cancerous ulcer on my left breast, which had begun to rot, and at times would discharge very offensive matter. I knew the trouble was hereditary as an only sister, my mother and two of her sisters died of cancer. I am fully satisfied I would have gone the same way but for S. S. S., which cured me. Bolton, Mo. THE SHIP SUBSIDY BILL.

The Merchant Marine League of the United States with headquarters at Cleveland, Ohio, and representing a dozen states, is actively supporting what is known as the ship subsidy bill. The league takes exception to an editorial in the Gazette, of recent date, which denounced the measure as class legislation.The argument advanced is that American ship building is an im-protected industry and the inference is, that inasmuch as it can not enjoy the benefits of a protective tariff, that it should be bolstered up by a direct donation of the people's money.This measure, in one form or another, has been before congress for a dozen years or more. The bill which recently passed the senate, and is now before the House, carries with it a couple of riders, namely: "to promote the national defenses and to create a naval reserve," both important measures, and in themselves worthy of the most hearty support, but the main feature of the bill is, "to establish American ocean mail lines to foreign markets and to promote commerce."The oceans are public highways, free to all comers and open to competition from every quarter of the globe. The man who pays his money for ocean travel, or ocean freight is destitute of sentiment. It is a simple question of the best service for the money, and the companies competing for the trade, thoroughly understand these conditions.While it is not possible to command a tribute for the privilege of patronizing bottoms which float the national emblem, the measure under discussion seeks to legalize this tribute by a tax on the public treasury.
The Gazette has voiced the sentiments of its constituency by opposing this measure ever since it first appeared on the carpet, and the paper sees no reason for changing its attitude on the question.

THE NEW SAN FRANCISCO.

The work of rebuilding the Golden Gate City is progressing rapidly, stimulated by the splendid courage of her citizens. The fact is already well established that the great loss experienced was from fire and not from the earthquake shock.The Southern Pacific railroad, which was the only road entering the city, has recently issued a map containing a birdseye view of the city, as it appeared at eight o'clock in the morning of April 18, the day of the shock, and another picture taken four days later, after the fire had devastated the city.The former shows that most of the modern buildings were not seriously damaged by the seismic disturbance, while hundreds of them went down before the fire. But neither fire nor shock dismayed the men who had contributed so much to the development of the city, and today many lines of business are re-established.
The spirit of the people is illustrated by the courage and foresight of one large property owner who when questioned as to the amountof his loss, nonchalantly answered:
"One hundred and seventy thousand dollars," and then, with a cheerful smile added: "I'll make it back in less than two years."A prominent Los Angeles capitalist heavily interested in a San Joaquin colonization project, was advised by the manager of the company that payments for buildings and improvements on the tract, aggregating seventeen thousand dollars, were due Saturday, April 21st. "We will have to delay these payments until the banks resume business," said the manager.
The capitalist's comment was a check for the amount, drawn against his personal account with a Los Angeles bank. Other expressions of confidence, equally forceful, were common.

THE MARINETTE MUDDLE.

The Marinette postoffice muddle, now occupying the boards at Washington, will contribute nothing to the outlook for harmony but it should not be permitted to enlist the sympathy of the rank and file of the party, whose differences are largely imaginary.A local postoffice fight is really of no consequence except to the people living in the immediate locality. The present incumbent at Marinette, has held the office for eight years. He is said to be a good man but so thoroughly engrossed in private business that he did not seek reappointment.
At least this is Congressman Minor's understanding, and as the responsibility of selecting his successor devolved on him, he recommended another man, and the appointment was made, and later held up by the President.This action was taken through the interference of Senator La Follette, backed by Isaac Stephenson, and the motive which prompted it is the old fued, which has long disturbed the republican party in Wisconsin.There are no principles involved in the contest, except the violation of the unwritten law of congressional courtesy, which has long conceded to congressmen the right to name postmasters in their respective districts without senatorial interference.Senator La Follette violated this custom, hence the trouble at Marinette. While it is perfectly neutral for the party to take sides in the Ninth congressional district where the interests of Congressman Minor are involved, there is no reason why the rank and file of the party throughout the state should mix up in a local postoffice fight.It is said that Senator Spooner is likely to take a hand, and if he does, he will support Mr. Minor. That would be perfectly natural, and at this stage of the game would be perfectly proper.But suppose he does. The senior senator is capable of taking care of himself, and there is nothing in the immediate future which calls for action on the part of his friends.
The republican party is composed of men who live together in neighborhoods and communities. The political fight, which has been going on in the state for the past half a dozen years, has engendered strife and bitterness, and the victories and defeats resulting have been a constant source of friction and disturbance.The rank and file of the party is composed of men who are not politicians and many of them would find it difficult to tell what they have been fighting for. There is no disposition, on their part, to mix up with the Marinette muddle, and it will require more than the persuasive arguments of the Milwaukee Journal to induce them to do so.

Milwaukee News: The report that

"What have we ever done that we should have a reputation for standing has nothing to say, the desired information might be had by consulting time—that's all. It's just like Europe."

Libby's Rancor Against Gazette.

Evanston Tribune: Our citizens are not wholly pleased with the sarcasm in which the Saturday Janesville Daily Gazette refers to this matter, feeling that they are inclined to belittle the work of our home company and extol that of their own. In fact the creamery is so far isolated from any other building that there is very little, if any, danger to any other ground and especially to that of Mr.
Rumrill's tobacco warehouse which is less than a quarter of a mile from the creamery, and our home company had at least seven streams playing upon the fire all at the same time, when the Gazette gives them credit for but two. But the Gazette's rancor against Evanston is such that they are not wholly responsible for all they say in print.

The Newspapers and Prize Fights.

La Crosse Leader-Press: An order recently issued by the Associated Press to correspondents and editors cautions them against reporting unimportant prize fights and boxing matches. "Only events of real national interest should be covered," says the order. This is of course merely policy, but the fact that occasion has been taken to emphasize it shows that greater caution is to be taken against transgressing it. This policy, carried out thoroughly by all the newspapers and news-gathering agencies will have an important effect on the prize fighting business. Prize fighting lives on publicity. Columns of newspaper space devoted to prize fighters are worth thousands of dollars to them.
Of course, the newspapers cannot be extremists as reformers. If two pugilists of national reputation fight a mill, it is not for the newspapers to suppress it. But they can avoid contributing to the manufacture of these artificial reputations and that is what most of them are now doing.

To Run Autos With Alcohol.

Madison Journal: In anticipation of the passage of the act permitting the manufacture of "denatured" alcohol free, Henry Ford, the Detroit automobile manufacturer, is preparing to meet the new conditions with an automobile that will use the new fuel instead of gasoline. For several weeks past the well appointed laboratory and experimental force of the Ford company has been conducting exhaustive experiments to determine the best type of carburetor or mixing valve for vaporizing alcohol for internal combustion motors. Exhaustive horse power tests have also been made, but for the present the company declines to make known in detail the results of its researches, although a little later on the information will be given out. Mr. Ford states that the results of the power tests so far have been most gratifying.
In the case of the Ceylinder type of motor, the average gasoline test of which is 62 H. P. (rated 40 in the catalogue) as high as 60-horse power was obtained in several tests with alcohol as fuel.NOCTURNAL VISIT the case and made the following selections of wearing apparel, jewelry, and hardware: two $15 grey suits one pair of 7 1/2 oxfords, shirts, under-

APPENDICITIS.

Some weeks ago I gave a lecture on the subject of home treatment for appendicitis and the last sentence of the lecture was "Don't be in a hurry to have an operation." I intended to write the present lecture for the following week, but as I was not then in possession of such positive personal experience as I am at the present time, I have waited. After finishing that lecture I went home and sent for a surgeon, whom I knew to be the most skillful that could be had in an operation, or for a diagnosis. I told him that I wished him to very carefully examine me for appendicitis; he did so, and then looked at me in astonishment saying, "Why, doctor, you have appendicitis and it seems to have been troubling you for a long time.
Why did you not come to me sooner?" I replied that I had known for a number of months that I had appendicitis and that I was treating it according to my own methods, and had done a full day's work with the exception of one day when I had called him to my house for relief in what he supposed an acute attack of colic. I then asked him what he advised me to do. He replied that it would not be necessary for him to advise me as I knew well enough what to do without asking him his opinion, and that it was a fact that I could continue to take care of myself and on account of my correct habits I might live many years and never have another attack. On the other hand, if I should at any time severely overtax my strength, become a trifle constipated and catch cold, a combination which frequently follow each other, I might pass away in a few hours. All of this I knew to be a fact. I also knew that I was working far beyond what any man ought to do.
I felt it was not right for me to longer take the risk because I honestly believed that my readers have need of me, therefore, I told him to make preparations to remove the appendix on Friday. I selected the assistant surgeon for him, also a physician for giving the anaesthetic, then on Thursday started to walk to the sanatorium.
However, a neighbor overtook me about half way and I rode the balance of the way, went through the operation on the next day at noon. On the Tuesday after I shaved myself in bed, on the fourth day dictated about 20 letters to various people who had written me. The rest of the letters were answered by my able assistants, so that if any of you felt that you were slighted during the first ten days, I know you will not feel hard toward me. I am still on my back at the hospital and although I feel like I could get up and walk a mile or two, the surgeon forbids it until at least ten days, which will be Monday.A careful examination of the appendix after its removal caused the three physicians to open wide their eyes in astonishment at what I had been able to accomplish. It showed evidence of having caused me great suffering over a period of several years; it also showed that nature cares for her subjects when they obey her laws, and they were frank to say that if I were a dissipated man or free user of tobacco, tea or coffee or intemperate in eating or in fact committing any intemperate excesses, I would probably have been dead long ago.
I know that all of you will agree with me that it pays to obey nature's laws.
Here is a most excellent demonstration. The physician in charge said I took the anaesthetic like a healthy baby, was asleep almost instantly, and there was no unfavorable symptoms at any time. My temperature did not raise over one degree and my pulse has not at any time exceeded 80. I was in perfect condition for the operation, therefore there was practically no danger.I have gone into detail in this personal matter because I know that you all take a deep personal interest in me and that many of you have taken my advice in very critical cases because you believed that what I told you was my honest, candid opinion. I followed my own advice, was in no hurry to have an operation performed, but waited until I knew that I was in a perfect condition for it. A serious question with most people is—Shall I or shall I not have an operation? I answer you as before, do not be in a hurry to have an operation, but if you have had one attack of appendicitis and have recovered you should then go through a careful course of dieting and living, the same as I did, putting myself in perfect condition for the operation. In this way you will avoid the danger of an acute attack and you avoid the danger, which is very great, of a second attack of appendicitis.
There are many details in regard to the home treatment and care of oneself in such cases which would require too much space for me to give here. I would be glad to advise any of my readers in regard to these details if they write me a careful description of their cases.I might say also that many people are in error in supposing that they have appendicitis when they have not, while others suffer severely with it without knowing it.

CLUB NOTES.

Minnesota.—Dr. David H. Reeder, La Porte, Indiana. Dear Doctor: I have read so much of your good advice and lectures that I also wish a little advice in my case. My forefingers have been aching for several years and are swollen. Change of weather makes them worse. They seemed to be quite well for a time, butthis year they have gotten thick and stiff. When they ache much the fingers become warm and they shine as if polished and look red. They ache more now than ever before, cannot even bend the fingers. During the day while at work I do not notice it so much, only at night when they are quiet. Can you tell me what the trouble is? The other fingers are beginning to ache like the forefingers did at the beginning. I will ask you also if pimples and blackheads can be overcome in any way by saline or any other remedy. Thanking you in advance for my advice, I am, sincerely, Mrs. E. A.After carefully reading the description you have given, I believe you are suffering from inflammatory rheumatism. I would refer you to the lecture just recently given on the subject of rheumatism, which will give you a great deal of practical information upon this subject. In such cases I find that the digestion is nearly always at fault. Fermentation takes place in the stomach which causes uric acid to be secreted and it goes into the blood and causes rheumatism. I will suggest that you restrict your diet, that is, do not eat very heartily for several days, but drink large quantities of fresh sweet buttermilk, two or three quarts each day. Buttermilk gives you both food and drink, and the acid in it counteracts the acid in the blood which causes the rheumatism. If you allow this difficulty to go on, you might become a cripple. You should overcome the indigestion by the methods so often given in these columns. To overcome the pimples and blackheads you should use the external treatment which I have written you and when the other troubles are corrected, they will gradually disappear, and your complexion will be as smooth and healthy as before.Florida.—Dr. David H. Reeder, La-Porte, Indiana. Dear Sir: Seeing C. L. from Idaho asking for something for the nervous shaking, I will give him a remedy supplied by a friend of mine which has proven efficient.Pitch-pine roots, bruised, (said to come from a wagon road, boiled and skim and save the gum as it rises and make into a plaster-like porous plaster, on thick white goods and apply from the neck bone the full length of the back bone. It will usually stay on eight weeks. She now is entirely free from the nervousness she complained of. Hoping C. L. and others may be benefited, I am, very truly your, Mrs. J. E.I thank you very much for your suggestion and trust that many will try it and be benefited, as it is not harmful in the least. I trust others will send in their contributions, and thereby live up to the Home Health club motto, "Pass It On."Nebraska.—Dr. David H. Reeder, La Porte, Indiana. Dear Doctor: I note that Mrs. G. A. M. requests a remedy for constipation for a child, four months old, I will send the following: Take a pinch of senna leaves, put them with a handful of prunes and cook thoroughly. Feed the juice to the little ones. Give more or less according to the way it works on the bowels.I trust Mrs. G. A. M. will try this, as it is a very satisfactory remedy for such cases. Respectfully, Mrs. E. H.I have sent the remedy above mentioned to Mrs. G. A. M. and trust she will let us know as to its efficiency in her child's case. I believe it will overcome the constipation, but would advise mothers not to continue giving a remedy of this nature after the trouble is better.All readers of this publication are mation pertaining to the subject of

to represent the heart of his victim, and he pierces it with nails or pins, which he fastens securely with twine.
With appropriate incantations this fic-

DIED IN LODGE HALL ANTE-ROOM

DARLINGTON MAN SUCCUMBED TO HEART DISEASE.

WHILE AWAITING DEGREE

Sudden Passing of Thomas Crow Over-spread With Gloom Big Knights of Columbus Gathering Here.

Nearly five hundred Knights of Columbus from the councils at Darlington, Mineral Point, Madison, Green Bay, Beloit, Cuba City, Rockford, Belvidere, Freeport, Elroy, Milwaukee, and Chicago arrived in the city yesterday morning to witness the conferring of degrees on sixty candidates and to attend the banquet which was to be tendered by Carroll Council No. 530 of Janesville at Assembly Hall. Perfect weather, the large attendance, and other favorable conditions seemed to indicate that nothing could prevent the big gathering from being one of the most memorable and enjoyable of the year. District Deputy Supreme Knight Thomas B. Hill of Winona, Minn., was here to confer the third degree. State Chaplain Naughton had arrived with the Madison delegation and there numerous other visitors. The work and business life were on the scene. On this beautiful Sabbath there was no premonition of an event which was to fill happy hearts with sorrow and cast a sombre shadow over all of the proceedings.

Dropped Dead in Ante-Room
It was fifteen minutes before four o'clock. The first degree only had been conferred in the West Side Odd Fellows' hall and a number of the Knights and candidates were spending the fifteen-minute recess in conversation in the ante-room, among the latter Thomas Crow, manager of the Barlow grain elevator at Darlington and an old and prominent resident, who was going through the work with a class of seventeen others from his home city. Dr. T. H. McCarthy of Janesville, Dr. M. A. Cunningham of Mineral Point, and Dr. H. O. Delaney of Beloit were among those present in the room. Mr. Crow was standing up and talking to his brother-in-law, Peter Walsh, when suddenly, in the midst of a sentence, he gasped and sank to the floor. The physicians sprang to his side in an instant, but even as they lifted his head from the floor and made their hasty examination, it became apparent that the heart had ceased to beat. A more thorough examination corroborated their first fears. The lodge work came to a halt. A telephone message was sent to Ryan's undertaking rooms. The body was quietly removed thither and after a long delay the session was again re-opened and the final two degrees in the brief time conferred on the remaining 59 candidates.

Chaplain Naughton Spoke
The banquet for which 640 plates had been laid in Assembly hall became a simple supper. The elaborate post-prandial program which had been prepared, was abandoned. Only Father and his words were confined to the bereavement which had suddenly overtaken all the Knights. The special train returning to Darlington and Mineral Point was to leave about half-past nine o'clock. Thither the remains of the dead man were conveyed by an escort consisting of all the visiting and local members of the order. Thomas Crow was 54 years of age. He was a business man well known in Janesville outside of Knights of Columbus circles. A wife and two small children survive him.

FIVE-TON MONUMENT

First Sarcophagus for Afton Cemetery.
The first sarcophagus monument to be erected in the Afton cemetery has just been purchased by C. F. Mathias of Afton in memory of his father, Geo. Breesee, the marble man, will furnish the work, which is of beautiful Barre granite and will be an exceptionally handsome job. The whole piece will weigh five tons and will make a particularly imposing piece. Mr. Breesee has also sold a beautiful imported Italian marble headstone to be erected on the grave of "Grandmother" Crossman, who recently died. Mr. Breesee is securing many large orders for monuments and is making a reputation for Janesville workmanship.

OTTO JOHNSON WAS HURT IN SASH AND DOOR PLANT

Right Forearm Was Caught Between Belt and Pulley and Flesh Badly Lacerated This Morning.

This morning while attempting to put some soap on a belt that runs a pulley machine in the Janesville Sash & Door Co., to keep it from slipping, Otto Johnson, who resides at 115 West Milwaukee Street, met with a very painful accident. His right forearm was caught between the belt and the pulley and was very painfully lacerated. This machine is used to make pockets for the weights in the window frames. He was not operating the machine when the accident happened, but was merely putting it in good running order. Dr. Farnsworth dressed the injuries and found that no bones were broken. The injured man will be able to resume his work in a few days.

PROPER CHICK FOOD.

An intelligent farmer will not feed corn meal to a nice colt, calf or little pig to promote growth, because it is too heating and fattening and causes indigestion and bowel trouble. The same rule applies to little chicks. Their natural food is dry grains containing a high percentage of protein. Our prepared, mixed grain for little chicks makes rapid growth and prevents indigestion. Keeps them strong and healthy. We have hundreds of customers that have proven it by its use. It costs more money than corn meal but it is far cheaper in the end.

FLOOR GIVES AWAY WITH SAD RESULTS

William H. Pierce Meets With Bad Accident Last Evening At His Home.

William H. Pierce who resides at 206 East Milwaukee street, met with a painful accident last evening between seven and eight o'clock. While in a shed in the rear of his home the flooring gave way and precipitated him into a large vault beneath. His cries for help were heard throughout the entire neighborhood and two gentlemen who came to his rescue handed down to him the end of a rope to which he held onto until a ladder was brought and he was able to climb out.

Needs of Baseball Catchers

Every Backstop Should Have a Good Throwing Arm and a Level Head--Light Men--Be Fearless, but Not Rash. Study Batsmen.

By LOU CRIGER.
For years the midday behind the bat of the ex-champion Boston Americans.
A good arm and a level head are the two things which go together to make a good catcher. One is of no great use without the other, but combined they insure success.
A good arm frequently fails because the brain to use it is lacking. This is true not only in running the game, but in developing your throwing as well.
A good many catchers have arms that are perfectly sound and which give them no trouble, yet they fail to use them to best advantage owing to a failure to study out the best way in which to handle themselves.
To a light man head work is of even more importance than it is to one built on stouter lines. The latter can take more hard knocks without being injured and forced out of the game, while a lighter built man must do quick thinking when he takes chances with a runner at the plate.
"Sand" is one of the things a catcher must be long on, but even if he is it will do him no good if he does not avoid being hurt whenever he can do so.
Fearlessness is one of the things which will prevent a catcher from being injured, provided it is coupled with a cool head and clear judgment, but mere rashness does but little good.
Head work in a catcher is of the utmost value to his team. A catcher who knows his own players and those of the opposing team can pull off plays which would be impossible without that knowledge. This is especially true in regard to the opposing batters.
A catcher is in a good position to tell what a batter is doing, and a little head work will frequently result in an easy out or even a double play when there are men on bases.

Try to trick a batter into looking for a ball and call for another, and there is a good chance of sneaking a strike over.
A constant study is necessary in order to know your batters, as young players are constantly being brought out, and even old ones may learn a new trick.
In handling base runners a good understanding with your fielders is essential.
You cannot work tricks to catch a man off base at all unless you know the men you are working with and have confidence in them. I have been fortunate in this respect at Boston, as the infield is one of the best in the country with which to work.
A hard fact for a catcher to perform is to catch men off first or third, and the fact that I have been very successful in this shows how fast the Boston infield is.
I have never had any particular trouble in getting into condition. Unlike the heavier catchers, I never take on weight that has to be taken off in the spring.
Good condition plays an important part in the game, and this is best gained by taking good care of yourself at all times.
During the playing season it is sometimes hard to keep from going stale in hot weather, but this will not worry a young catcher unless he is in a position where he is worked steadily.
The catching position is not one that I would recommend for one who expects an easy task, but for any one really interested in the game it offers attractions that overcome the disadvantages.
There is plenty to keep a thinking catcher busy all of the time, and success is in a large measure its own reward, even where salary is not a consideration.

Leading Race Mares--Beals C. Wright, Tennis Champion--Fight Talk.

Artful, Hamburg Belle, Tradition, Tanya, Whimsical and Perverse are practically the best of the race mares now before the public, but Klamesha in time may be able to at least divide honors with them. Artful has been entered in all the handicaps so far, but her future is somewhat shrouded in doubt. It will be remembered that Trainer John W. Rogers did not care to start her in any of the big events for which she was engaged after she ran the Brighton handicap last year.
Even when she had the Brighton cup at her mercy, as Synony was not an eligible, Rogers declined to send her to the post because she had shown slight indications of weak underpinning, and the clever trainer of the Whitney stable did not want to take a risk. Artful, therefore, began a long rest, and it is safe to say that she will not be seen in a race this year until the season is well under way, if then.
To start this famous daughter of Hamburg, unless perfectly sound in limb would be a sad error and not in accordance with the usual policy of her owner and trainer.
So there is just a chance that Artful may go into retirement without taking part in another race. Tanya, her stable companion, however, has a rather hard campaign mapped out for her.

Abel Attell has flunked out of his match with Joe Bowker, which was scheduled at the National Sporting Club, London, and was to decide the featherweight championship of the world.
The articles were signed by Attell last February and now are in the hands of A. F. Bettinson, manager of the English boxing club, who was much surprised to learn by cable that Attell had decided not to keep the engagement.

The American champion was apparently anxious to get the match, but after studying the matter he came to the conclusion that Bowker was harder game than was generally supposed, and he used the San Francisco earthquake as an excuse to get out of the match, although he has been in Los Angeles ever since he went to the coast.
Attell alleges that the home of his people in San Francisco was burned after the earthquake, and for that reason he cannot go to London. But, as he remains in Los Angeles, several hundred miles from the scene of the trouble, there is some doubt as to the truth of the story of the fire. The belief prevails that if his family was in trouble in Frisco he would go there. That is the logical conclusion, and the fact that he stays in Los Angeles is taken to mean that the fire story was invented as an excuse for getting out of the match with Bowker.
There was absolutely nothing to prevent Attell going to London and keeping his engagement except the fear that he would lose the battle.
Beals C. Wright, the main hope of the American tennis team, world in the coming international contests in England, is the American champion in singles. He is a Harvard graduate and formerly held the championship title of that university, which has produced more great tennis players than any other American college.
Wright has rounded into excellent form and is confident of winning from the British stars. He does not fear the French, Austrian or Australian entrants.
The famous Doherty brothers, English stars, will probably be his strongest opponents.
Trot and Zambini.
Trainer Jack Trot and Zambini take to one another, which makes it look as if the Brooklyn mare would get a record of 2:10.

Yachting Outlook.

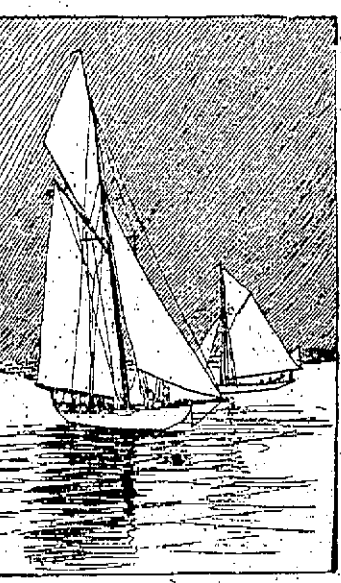

This Season Not an "Off Year"--Many Interesting Events Scheduled.

By WILLIE WEST.
"Ahoy, there, yachters!"
Much is doing on the briny, and if any of you are not ready for the season get busy. "Somebody" has been heard to whisper that 1906 is an off year for boat sport. Don't you believe it. Frisco is off the landscape temporarily, but Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, New York, Charleston, S. C., and a hundred other bays where sailors liberate and only handmen live the simple life still answer to the roll call at G. A. M.
So get in line, keel haulers and stay buccers. Come out into the sunshine and gambol on the lumpy sea that cheers, but not lubricates. To those that don't feel well when the gale whistles out of the wild nor-east tell them to cast their troubles overboard.

The Brooklyn (N. Y.) Yacht club has sounded the gong for the opening round with the race to Bermuda, the yawls Tamerlane and Lila and the sloops Gauntlet and Bonnie Kate entered.
The Columbia Y. C. of Chicago and the Chicago Y. C. have announced the best schedules ever known in their history.
The Eastern Y. C. of Marblehead, Mass., has announced a score of races, topped by an ocean cruise 200 miles long.
The New York Y. C. announces a long list of "chess" contests, including races for the seventy fenders Rainbow, Minicola and Yankee. Rainbow is owned by Commodore W. K. Vanderbilt and will be sailed by Captain Charles Barr of America's cup and Kaiser's cup fame.
The Corinthian Y. C. of Philadelphia will send entries to nearly all the big Atlantic coast races in addition to holding a large number of interesting events itself.
The fifty-ninth annual regatta of the New York Y. C. will be held at Glen Cove, N. Y., on June 21. In this event it is probable that the new schooners and sloops owned by club members will be ready to race. The races for the Glen Cove cups, in which all yachts owned by club members and their sons are eligible, will be sailed Saturday, July 7.
The annual cruise of the club has now been definitely set to start from Glen Cove Friday, Aug. 3, the yachts gathering at the rendezvous at Glen Cove anchorage the previous day. Races have been arranged as follows: Aug. 3, to Morris Cove; Aug. 4, to New London; Aug. 6, to Newport; Aug. 7, races for the Astor cups off Newport; Aug. 8, races for the King's cup offered by Edward VII. of England; Aug. 9, squadron run, Newport to Vineyard Haven; Aug. 11, to Newport, where the yachts disband.
The fall regatta for the autumn cups will be sailed at Glen Cove Thursday, Sept. 6, and will be open to all enrolled yachts.
Interest shown in yachting this season indicates that the regattas will draw the largest entry lists ever known in the history of the club, while members regard the squadron runs as an opportunity for speed trials, for which many valuable prizes are offered, the cup races off Newport on Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 7 and 8, bringing together an immense squadron.

An interesting factor in eastern racing this year will be Vigilant, once an America's cup defender in 1893, when she defeated Valkyrie II. in three straight races off Sandy Hook,

The Truth about the Mutual Life

THIS is a matter of great interest to the public, and of still greater interest to thousands of individuals. People with the fairest minds--and that means most people--have been disturbed and unsettled by the developments and denunciations of the past few months. What these people want is the truth--the plain unvarnished truth. To give them this truth is the object of this announcement.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company was organized in 1843, the first of its kind in America. In 24 years it had become the largest in the world. For 39 years, in spite of the keenest competition, it has held the lead, passing unharmed through panics, failures, strikes and wars; meeting with promptness its every obligation and having 460 millions of assets to-day.

The recent Insurance agitation was unique. The investigation certainly was thorough. As every one knows the Mutual Life was on the firing line. The smoke has now cleared away. What do we find?

In the first place we find that the Mutual Life is still the largest and staunchest Life Insurance Company in the world. Without defending or in the least belittling the abuses and extravagances recently brought to light, everybody should keep in mind the fact that the solvency of this Company has not for a moment been affected thereby. Concerning the work of the finance committee which has been attacked in the press, this Company's auditing committee consisting of Messrs. Truesdale, Auchincloss, Fish and Dixon stated on February 15th, 1906:

"The Committee certify that the investments of the Company are of the highest order and well selected," and "have found the valuation given safe and conservative, in many instances less than the market value and in none in excess of such value."

In the next place, extravagance has been stopped, and those responsible for it have gone; a new management has been installed, and retrenchments have been effected that have already saved vast sums of money and will save much more as time goes on. Legislative reforms have likewise been anticipated, and the Company is now as sound at the circumference as it always has been at the core.

In the next place, the ending of the first quarter presents an excellent opportunity for comparing this year with last.

The amount paid policy holders is $9,608,436.50, an increase of $1,070,835.26. The receipts for premiums were $15,082,484.57, a decrease of $857,995.29 for the period. This is a shrinkage of less than 5 1/2 per cent. The amount paid for expenses was $2,935,552.44, a reduction of $1,547,279.36.

This remarkable showing is a good thing to be kept in mind by everybody--those now insured in the Mutual Life, and those who should be. It cannot be accounted for by the smaller amount of new business written. Of the saving for the quarter, the sum of $390,961.52 is in items not connected with the obtaining of new business.

In the next place we find that this Company is doing business--more business than any other company in the world with one exception. Far from being paralyzed or demoralized it is forging right ahead. Policies by the hundred are being written each day; honest trustees, keenly alert, are directing its affairs; faithful and experienced men are doing its intricate work; loyal agents are explaining its advantages and discriminating people are obtaining its protection.

In the next place we find that there need be no question as to the future. A policy in the Mutual Life is just as good as gold. No obligation could possibly be better. A bond of the United States Government is no safer. It will, therefore, be a misfortune if any one is misled by the writer who prints for revenue or for notoriety, or by the attorney who is out for his clients, or the competitor who is out for himself, or even by the gentlemen who have organized themselves into committees under an honest misapprehension of the facts. Such incidents may tend to hinder business, but need deter no one who needs insurance.

With economy, which means rapid improvement in regard to earning of surplus for dividends, everywhere at work in the Mutual Life, with its immense size as the basis for moderate general expenses; with smaller liability for renewal commissions to agents than any other Company; with the cost of new business limited by law for all Companies, how can any one possibly better provide for the uncertainties of the future than through a policy in the first Insurance Company in America, and the strongest in the world.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York New York

The Mutual Life has devised and placed on the market at a notably low rate, a policy which provides protection more far-reaching than an ordinary contract. Send your address and let us inform you as to the particulars.

THROWER OF BOMB COMMITTS SUICIDE

SHOOTS GUARD WHO PLACED HIM UNDER ARREST.

PAYS FORFEIT WITH HIS LIFE.

Escape Being Cut Off by Villagers Who Had Recognized Him, Morales Turned Revolver on Self, His Aim Being True.

Madrid, June 5.—The capture and suicide Saturday night at Torrejon de Ardos of Manuel Morales, the chief suspect in the bomb outrage against King Alfonso and Queen Victoria, adds another dramatic chapter to the incidents surrounding the royal wedding. Morales was recognized in the little town of Torrejon de Ardos, midway between Madrid and Alcala. A guard sought to detain him, but Morales, drawing a revolver, shot the guard dead. Then he turned to flee, but a number of the inhabitants of the town were upon him, and turning the revolver upon himself, he sent a shot in the region of his heart, expiring a few minutes later.

Senor Cuesta, proprietor of the hotel from the balcony of which Morales threw the bomb, viewed the body and completely identified it as that of his recent guest.

It was eight o'clock Saturday evening when Morales, disguised in the garb of a workman, entered the station at Torrejon de Ardos. He asked a child who was in charge of the office the time the next train would depart for Barcelona. He then sought food in a nearby shop. His Catalan accent at first attracted attention to him. It was then noticed that his workman's suit was entirely new and did not correspond in texture to that usually worn by a person of his station in life, his face and manners showing him to be a man of some distinction.

A private watchman from a neighboring estate chanced to be present and he noticed the facial resemblance of Morales to the descriptions given out of the man seen on the balcony from which the bomb was thrown, particularly the long, thin and deeply serious face and the closely cropped mustache. He then observed that a finger on the man's left hand, which the stranger was trying to conceal, was badly hurt, and also that there was a small fresh scar on his forehead. The stranger sought to take a road leading into the country, but the watchman intercepted him and demanded to know his identity. Morales declined to give this, whereupon the guard arrested him. Instantly Morales drew a revolver from his pocket and fired, the guard falling dead. Morales started up the road, but a small group of villagers ahead barred his passage. Then, turning, he deliberately pointed the weapon to his heart, fired and pitched forward in the roadway.

Refuse Burial to Murderer.

An examination of the pockets of the dead man showed that they contained $35 in money and a small supply of bread and cheese, but there was nothing on them that would give a clue as to his identity. This fact created a doubt that the man was Morales; but when the governor of Madrid arrived with Cuesta, identification was immediate and positive. The body was then brought to Madrid. At first there was a desire to bury it at Torrejon de Ardos, but when this was suggested the villagers indignantly refused to permit the body to repose in their town.

Villagers of Torrejon de Ardos gave a graphic description of the capture and death of Morales. They say he appeared to be greatly fatigued and fell asleep on a bench at the station. On entering the inn he called for dinner, but scarcely tasted a morsel. The loquacious proprietress of the inn discussed with him the prevailing topic of the throwing of the bomb at Madrid, declaring it was a heinous crime. At this the stranger shifted nervously, saying: "Everyone has his own ideas which should be respected." Shortly after this he tried to leave the town.

AVERT STREET CAR STRIKE

Men at Detroit Accept Offer of Company Granting Slight Increase.

Detroit, Mich., June 5.—The possibility of a strike of the street car employees of the city was averted early Sunday when the men at a mass meeting of their union voted to accept the offer of the Detroit United railway of 25 cents per hour for all men now in the employ of the company and 23 cents per hour for the first year of employment for men hired after June 1, 24 cents the second year and 25 cents thereafter. The men several weeks ago made a demand for 30 cents an hour. They have been getting 23½ cents.

Indignant at Spanish Police.

Madrid, June 5.—Public opinion is very strong against the authorities and the special police that were created some time ago, both in Madrid and Barcelona, to watch anarchists, and who were caught napping despite repeated warnings.

Circus Seats Give Way.

Sidney, Ia., June 5.—During the concert following the performance of a circus here a section of the reserved seats collapsed, carrying down about 100 persons. Many were hurt.

Meeting of Grain Men.

Chicago, Ill., June 4.—The annual meeting of the National Grain Dealers' association began in this city today and will continue over tomorrow.

Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Kansas City, Omaha and numerous other grain centers of the country are represented at the convention. St. Louis has presented an invitation to the association to hold next year's meeting in that city.

are entirely unnecessary and unparadonable and which are a constant menace not only to their own health, but to the health of those who use the food products prepared by them. The report urged compulsory examination after slaughter, inspection of goats for foreign or interstate commerce; increase of inspectors for night inspection and special work; legislation prohibiting declarations of government inspection on food products unless subject to government inspection at every stage of preparation; prohibiting interstate transportation of any meat or meat food products not inspected and labeled; urging consideration of the question of specific labeling of all carcasses sold as fresh meat which upon examination after slaughtering show signs of disease but are still deemed suitable for food; and recommends study of inspection standards of other countries.

MINERS FIGHT THE GUARDS

DRIVE SPECIAL POLICE BACK INTO THE MINES.

Fifteen of the Deputies Are Shot, But Number of Killed Cannot Be Ascertained.

Cleveland, O., June 4.—Telephone reports from Steubenville early Monday morning state that in a fight between 400 striking coal miners and 40 guards, 15 of the latter were shot. It is not known how many were killed, as the rest of the guards are in the mines, and are afraid to come out and remove or attend the wounded or dead. Sheriff Vorhis immediately got into communication with the statehouse at Columbus in an effort to get the militia called out if he finds that he is unable to control the situation. He has promised state troops in case he makes a demand for them. The sheriff also called up H. E. Willard, general manager and secretary of the United States Coal company, which owns and operates the mines at Plum Run, the scene of the rioting, and advised him of the situation.

It is said the fighting was the result of the coal company attempting to import a carload of munition men under cover of darkness.

The strikers had pickets on duty all night, and as soon as these discovered the train with the new men, they aroused the entire mining population. The strikers tried to seek out the imported men in an endeavor to keep them from entering the mines. The guards sought to gain possession of the strike-breakers by force, and drew their guns. This act infuriated the strikers, and when the guards, in order to frighten them, fired in the air, the miners made a concerted attack upon their assailants. The battle waged for 15 minutes, hundreds of shots being fired. The guards, outnumbered, were finally routed and forced to withdraw into the mines. There they have been since the shooting ceased, fearing to venture out to take care of the wounded.

AERONAUT NEAR TO DEATH

Frame Work of Car Collapses When Airship Reaches Height of 500 Feet Above the Ground.

Cleveland, O., June 5.—While making a trial flight with his airship, Lincoln Beachey, the young San Francisco aeronaut, narrowly escaped death by the collapsing of the framework of the car.

The airship was 500 feet in the air when the accident occurred and the daring young navigator was saved from being dashed to the ground only by the narrowest margin. He managed to guide the airship until it was but 50 feet above the ground and although it fell that distance he escaped uninjured, except for a few bruises. The airship was partly wrecked.

Everything was running smoothly when, without warning, the two bamboo poles at the center of the car near the engine snapped in two. This caused the entire framework to double up like a jackknife. The rapidly revolving propeller was hurled into the forward end of the big balloon, cutting a big opening in it. The escaping gas caused the car to sway to and fro, and it was with difficulty that Beachey remained in the cage.

The car started to drop slowly and, the rudder being useless, it was blown over the park in the opposite direction from which it was headed. The hydrogen gas which filled the balloon poured down upon Beachey, nearly smothering him. Fortunately the gas escaped slowly, and there was enough in the balloon to support the car until it was within 50 feet of the ground. The descent had been gradual, but owing to the swaying of the car and the fumes of gas Beachey was in constant danger of death.

Election in Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., June 4.—An election is being held in Chicago today for judges of the supreme court, circuit court and municipal court. The principal interest in the result of the election lies in its bearing on the contest for the rival democratic factions for supremacy.

DEATH TO ELEVEN ROUNDING CURVE

FOG HIDES TURN FROM SPECIAL MOTORMAN.

APPLIES BRAKES TOO LATE

Permits Car to Coast Down Hill, Swings Onto Bend in Road, and Passengers Are Killed.

Providence, R. I., June 5.—Eleven persons are dead, a score seriously and many others slightly injured as the result of the overturning of a crowded electric car at Moore's Corner in East Providence early Sunday morning.

More than 100 young men and women, who had spent the evening at Crescent Park, a pleasure resort on the Providence river, six miles below this city, were on a chartered car returning to their homes in this city, Olneyville and Thornton.

It is believed that two of the injured will die.

The dead: George Atcherson, 20 years, Thornton; Edward F. Brennan, 18 years, Cranston, R. I.; Alice Franklin, 17 years, Thornton; Enrico Gamboni, 23 years, Thornton; John Gavin, 20 years, Providence; Angelo Germain, 30 years, Thornton; Gustave Guertin, 25 years, Olneyville; William W. Luther, 27 years, Providence; Bertha M. Kelley, 18 years, Thornton; John Schneider, 19 years, Olneyville; Ethel Whitley, 19 years, Providence.

The wreck occurred on the suburban line of the Rhode Island company.

Blame on Special Motorman.

The motorman in charge of the car, W. J. Laucher, of Olneyville, although experienced in his calling, was unfamiliar with the road over which he was traveling for the first time. Laucher was put in charge of the car at the solicitation of the passengers, members of a Catholic society, which had been to Crescent Park for an outing. The car, an open one of heavy build, was crowded with young men and women.

Fog prevented a clear view of the road ahead, and the motorman, unable to see far ahead of the car, and unaware of the sharp curve below, allowed the car to coast rapidly down the hill. Suddenly he felt the car swinging into the curve, and realizing the peril, applied the brakes and reversed the power. The weight of a number of men on the running board and the momentum sufficed to derail the car and throw it into the road 20 feet from the track.

Seven Killed Instantly.

Seven of the passengers were plumed beneath the car and instantly killed.

Those who were able began the work of rescue. A large joist was utilized as a lever, a pile of stones forming a fulcrum, and the car was raised from the ground just enough to permit the escape of its imprisoned passengers.

Two persons had succeeded in escaping when the joist broke under the weight of the car, and the heavy vehicle fell back, killing two of the injured.

The rescuers again raised the car from the ground, and by building a pile of heavy stones, kept it in position while the dead and injured were removed.

Two of those taken out, John Gavin and George Atcherson, both of whom had sustained fractured skulls, died within an hour.

Motorman Laucher was not arrested. The police authorities said that the motorman was not guilty of negligence in their opinion, inasmuch as he was unfamiliar with the line and did not know of the curve. The car was in charge of Conductor Joseph McQuade, who received serious injuries.

Clergyman for Congress.

Greenfield, Ind., June 5.—The Democrats of the Sixth district nominated the Rev. T. H. Kuhn of Richmond for congress. Mr. Kuhn had no opposition.

Miners' Leader to Quit.

Three Boys Are Drowned.

Ashtabula, Wis., June 5.—Isaac Storm, eight years old; Clarence Wendt, ten years old, and Bonas Hegman, nine years old, were drowned in Chequamegon bay. The boys had gone 50 feet from shore when the boat capsized.

Just One Minute, Mr. Mail-Order House Man

We wish to say a few words to you:

When you select your Buggy from the mail-order catalogue what guarantee have you that it will be as represented? NONE!

When your Buggy comes and you find it is not as represented, what redress have you? NONE!

When the defective spots in your Buggy begin to show up, where can you go for sympathy? NOWHERE! It's a case of smile and look pleasant, isn't it?

Well, you can avoid all this if you'll only try. We make Buggies, and good Buggies, too; just as good as are made anywhere, and we don't ask a dollar more for them than the mail-order house, quality considered. Now then, is it worth anything to buy where you can see the goods personally? Isn't there just a little bit of comfort in knowing that if anything goes wrong with your buggy you have the factory to fall back on? We think these things are worth considering if you are contemplating buying a vehicle.

If you will come in we will show you many other good points about our buggies.
